2023 IMPACT REPORT

In 2023, JP Boston focused on growth.

2023 was a benchmark year for our Boston program as we solidified our growing community. Our program space moved from Roxbury to Boston's South End and became a hub for families — bringing moms together for monthly Sisterhood Hours and events while also offering a beautiful space for children to connect, play, and study together. We grew to coach 65 moms (up from 35 in 2022) and were fully staffed with the addition of an operations manager and development director. Throughout 2023, 87% of moms persisted in their college, career, and leadership journeys with JP Boston. We solidified a new partnership with the Boston Housing Authority, making 12 vacant two-bedroom apartments available to our families. We engaged with service partners like Women's Money Matters, Sitters for Scholars, Helpr, Ann's Christian Learning Center, Junior League of Boston, and Casa Myrna in new ways to address quality child care, private tutoring, financial health, safe relationships, and career exploration.

“Empowerment and Leadership helped me gain confidence. I was in a dark, depressive place when I joined, but it built me up and helped me be free from my toxic thoughts.”

In 2023, Jeremiah Program celebrated 25 years of single mother sisterhood, leadership, and community.

2023 may have been a milestone year for Jeremiah Program (JP), but it was also a year of firsts. We held our first in-person summit in Austin, TX, bringing together more than 300 JP moms, alumni, kids, staff, and supporters for a weekend of learning, sisterhood, and community. We launched a new Early Childhood Education (ECE) Fellowship for teachers in JP's five Child Development Centers (CDCs) and JP moms interested in pursuing degrees in ECE. In August, more than 100 JP direct-service staff convened in Fargo, ND, for our first-ever program retreat. Through shared and role-specific training opportunities, the retreat helped break down program silos and better integrate the JP family experience. In 2023, JP Baltimore and JP Las Vegas celebrated their one-year anniversaries. Since 2022, our Baltimore and Las Vegas communities have grown from two visionary executive directors and our first cohort of 104 families to 10 full-time staff, 317 families, and a host of community partners and local supporters. Finally, we published JP's first-ever annual report magazine, Imagine, a project that looks back at JP's 25-year history while also looking to the future.

"If we are supportive of single mothers and their children, we're just leveling up society overall."
