

JP Brooklyn's new home is a family hub.

The first half of 2024 has been major for JP Brooklyn. Our new downtown Brooklyn office sits at the nexus of resources important to our families, including the Human Resources Administration office that provides assistance with SNAP and housing. The space has become a hub for families — bringing moms and kids together for monthly Sisterhood Hours and events while also offering a beautiful area for families to connect, play, and study together. Single mother sisterhood sustains women and families in pursuit of economic mobility. The 12 JP moms who graduated this spring and summer are testaments to the power of this sisterhood.

“If we are supportive of single mothers and their children, we’re just leveling up society overall.” —JP BROOKLYN MOM
