

2025 IMPACT REPORT

“[JP is] like having sisters that I didn’t know I needed, but I needed them. We’re able to support each other, encourage each other.”

—JP BALTIMORE ALUM

In 2025 at JP, we sharpened our focus on improving college success for single mothers as rising costs and changes in public assistance intensified pressures on student-parents, particularly women of color. Despite these challenges, our two-generation (2Gen) approach delivered strong, measurable results. We were thrilled to launch our first cohort of the MOMS Partnership® Stress Management program, a community-based, eight-week program that supports maternal mental health and well-being. Your partnership made this progress possible — helping JP meet this moment and advance economic mobility for single moms and their children in our community.
